

The book was found

Not For Sale: The Return Of The Global Slave Trade--and How We Can Fight It

Synopsis

“Human trafficking is not an issue of the left or right, blue states or red states, but a great moral tragedy we can unite to stop . . . Not for Sale is a must-read to see how you can join the fight.” • “Jim Wallis, author of God’s Politics” David Batstone is a heroic character.” • “Bonoln the revised and updated version of this harrowing yet deeply inspirational exposé, award-winning journalist David Batstone gives the most up-to-date information available on the $31 billion human trafficking epidemic. With profiles of twenty-first century abolitionists like Thailand’s Kru Nam and Peru’s Lucy Borja, Batstone tells readers what they can do to stop the modern slave trade. Like Kevin Bales’s Disposable People and Ending Slavery, or E. Benjamin Skinner’s A Crime So Monstrous, Batstone’s Not for Sale is an informative and necessary manifesto for universal freedom.

Book Information

Paperback: 304 pages

Publisher: HarperOne; Rev Upd edition (October 12, 2010)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0061998834

ISBN-13: 978-0061998836

Product Dimensions: 5.3 x 0.7 x 8 inches

Shipping Weight: 8.8 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 4.8 out of 5 stars See all reviews (100 customer reviews)

Best Sellers Rank: #163,142 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #96 in Books > Politics & Social Sciences > Social Sciences > Philanthropy & Charity #122 in Books > Religion & Spirituality > Religious Studies > Ethics #228 in Books > Politics & Social Sciences > Politics & Government > Specific Topics > Human Rights

Customer Reviews

I have been working in Relief and Development for 26 years in Asia, particularly in war zones, refugee situations natural disasters, civil unrest and major social issues like trafficking. David Batstone gives a terrible, graphic picture of slavery in the 21st century from just about every continent. It grabs your heart and will not let you go. This issue will require the same kind of perseverance that William Wilberforce overcame in abolishing slavery, changing laws and worldviews in the UK in the 18th century. We have had the privilege of supporting the work of Pierre and Simonetta Tami and the Hagar Project in Cambodia since its inception. We have seen up close the horror and pain of children as young as 6 years being sold, trafficked and abused. This book tells those stories in graphic, unbelievable detail from countries like Uganda, Thailand and Cambodia. These stories are not about statistics but about people with names and families who have endured hell, been scarred for life or have been killed in the process. You will not believe it, then you will become furious that this is happening today. It also shows ordinary people that are a voice for the voiceless and are making an incredible difference. There are just too few of them. Maybe, you will ask yourself, "How do I get involved in this global effort?" This book is a call to action. Don't buy this book unless you are ready for engagement in a loving, compassionate fight against the evils of the 21st century slave trade. G. Stephen Goode Bangkok, Thailand

This is the first book that I've read about this crisis that does not rely on statistics and studies to tell the story of modern slavery. In poignant interviews Batstone reveals the miserable reality of the invisible people who care for the rest of us every day. Modern slaves cook, clean, sew and build our world and in return we turn a blind eye to their situation or even their existence. If you care at all about your fellow human beings you will read this book, share it and take action. Batstone outlines several ways to take action and lists several resources available to all of us. Their lives and our souls are at stake if we don't start making changes and demanding change in others NOW.

This is one of those books that makes you want TO DO SOMETHING. Every chapter is a story of a slave, their slave owner, and the person and persons who rescues them. There is too much information and too many statistics to remain unchanged after reading it. There is a chapter on the invisible children in Uganda who are kidnapped by the Lord's Resistance Army and forced to kill the adults in their village. The younger girls are given as wives to the older boys. If you caught trying to escape you are gang murdered. Thank God for the work World Vision and other organizations are doing to rescue them! There are chapters about sex slaves who are transported to America and other countries to be prostitutes. This is a well researched book to a huge problem that must be addressed.

I became interested in the issue of human trafficking after I read a NY Times article titled, The Girls Next Door, by Peter Landesman, in 2004. It "broke my heart" and ever since then I have been looking for a way to help stop this terrible plague of injustice. In an effort to become informed, I read the reviews of all the books on this subject and ordered several. This one, Not For Sale, is fantastic! It gives facts, which are not presented in an exploitative, titillating way, but will still probably "break your heart" too. Besides the facts, there are also actual examples of many of the forms of human trafficking, from the sexual trade to child soldiers, and slave labor. Yes, people are still buying and selling slaves! And, yes, here in the United States, too! But the best part is that this book gives you examples of people who are finding ways to stop this plague. And, it also gives you resources, such as the names of organizations where you can send donations, and websites that you can contact. Right now this plague flourishes because it is mostly invisible, even though it is happening all around us. But, once we are informed, we will no longer be blind, and there will be no dark corners where this travesty can exist. I read this book in one day (yesterday), then today, I ordered 16 more copies, which I am going to distribute in my personal effort to help the world become informed. Obviously, I highly recommend this book!

This book is moving. It is a great survey of SOME of the many deminsions of slavery today worldwide. It may move you to tears but it will also hopefully inspire you to become an abolitionist according to your own abilities, education, and passions. I would recommend this book to anyone just now becoming aware of this global tragedy. Batstone balances stories of the enslaved, what the ordinary abolitionists are doing, and information on the system that facilitate the oppression that this issue begins to make concrete sense.

Slavery ended in the Civil War - or did it? Actually there's a thriving modern business in slavery: some 200,000 people live enslaved in the U.S. today - that's the hard-hitting message of NOT FOR SALE: THE RETURN OF THE GLOBAL SLAVE TRADE AND HOW WE CAN FIGHT IT. These people have been sold into slave labor and prostitution within this country and others: Batstone traveled to five continents to investigate human trafficking and documents here both victims and slave trade rings.

Download to continue reading...

Not for Sale: The Return of the Global Slave Trade--and How We Can Fight It
Fat Witch Bake Sale: 67 Recipes from the Beloved Fat Witch Bakery for Your Next Bake Sale or Party
Saints Who Battled Satan: Seventeen Holy Warriors Who Can Teach You How to Fight the Good Fight and Vanquish Your Ancient Enemy
The American Slave Coast: A History of the Slave-Breeding Industry
Twelve Years a Slave (the Original Book from Which the 2013 Movie '12 Years a Slave' Is Based)
(Illustrated) When I Was a Slave: Memoirs from the Slave Narrative Collection (Dover Thrift Editions)
The Making of a Racist: A Southerner Reflects on Family, History, and the Slave Trade
The Atlas of African-American History and Politics: From the Slave Trade to Modern Times

Inheriting the Trade: A Northern Family Confronts Its Legacy as a Slave-Trading Dynasty
Thoughts upon the African Slave Trade
The Slave Trade in Early America (Colonial America)
The Field of Fight: How We Can Win the Global War Against Radical Islam and Its Allies
New York for Sale: Community Planning Confronts Global Real Estate (Urban and Industrial Environments)
The Official Fight Promoter Playbook (The Fight Promoter Series 2)
My Fight / Your Fight
The Hacked World Order: How Nations Fight, Trade, Maneuver, and Manipulate in the Digital Age
Day Trade the S&P 500 Index for Fun and Profit: A Unique Method for Using Heikin Ashi Charts to Day Trade S&P500
Futures and ETFs
Trade Warriors: States, Firms, and Strategic-Trade Policy in High-Technology Competition
GATS and the Regulation of International Trade in Services: World Trade Forum
Resume Magic, 4th Ed: Trade Secrets of a Professional Resume Writer (Resume Magic: Trade Secrets of a Professional Resume Writer)

Dmca